Rochester, New York, September 20, 2005 – Patient Infosystems, Inc. (OTCBB: PATY - News) (“Patient Infosystems”), a leading health management company, and CCS Consolidated, Inc. (d/b/a CareGuide) (“CareGuide”) announced today that they have executed a definitive Agreement and Plan of Merger. Following the consummation of the merger, which is expected to occur by the end of 2005, Patient Infosystems and CareGuide will operate together as a single, publicly-traded corporation. Under the terms of the merger agreement, stockholders of CareGuide will be issued shares of common stock of Patient Infosystems representing up to 65% of the common stock of the combined company. The merger is subject to several conditions, including regulatory approval, approval of the transaction by CareGuide’s stockholders, and other customary conditions.

Albert Waxman, Ph.D., CareGuide Chairman, and Chris Paterson, CareGuide CEO, will serve as Chairman and CEO, respectively, of the merged company. John Pappajohn, a board member of Patient Infosystems, will be the Vice Chairman, and Roger Chaufournier, current CEO and Chairman of Patient Infosystems, will lead a new subsidiary that will focus on provider innovation and improvement services.

CareGuide, headquartered in Coral Springs, Florida, is an innovative care management company that provides interactive, personalized services addressing the medical and psychosocial needs of individuals requiring disease and complex care management. CareGuide’s post-acute and Continuous Care Management services increase member satisfaction regarding their health care management while decreasing the financial burden to clients.

Regarding the merger with Patient Infosystems, Paterson commented, "This is a strong combination of two organizations with similar cultures and values and a shared passion for improving the health and well being of those they serve while reducing overall health care costs for their customers." Waxman added, "We are very excited about this merger with Patient Infosystems. We believe that this transaction will establish the combined company as one of the leading care and disease management companies supporting the public and private sectors as well as self-insured employers. We believe the products and services of the two companies bring to the marketplace a comprehensive population health management company, well positioned for the future."

"We view this marriage as representing a major leap forward for Patient Infosystems and its shareholders," according to Chauffournier. "We believe our population management approach complements CareGuide's member focused care management programs. Their focus on health plans and Medicare/Medicaid markets joins well with our self-insured employer and Taft Hartley markets. The large CareGuide network of nurse care managers and social workers is a complement to our physician practice oriented disease management programs."
